RESUME

COVER LETTER

Dear Hiring Manager,

Running and Software Engineering are more similar than different in the sense that the longer, more diligent, and intelligent you work, the better you become. I believe that to be a good Software Engineer, creativity, and unwavering persistence is just as important as intelligence. As a former captain of my high school track team, the greatest factors that went into choosing new captain by the coaching staff were the athlete's times, dedication, and the way the athlete carries themselves as a representative of the organization both on and off the track. I believe my experiences have prepared me for this role as a former track team captain as well as a self-taught developer before I began college. I am currently a Computer Science undergraduate student at Rutgers University and am writing to express my interest in the 2018 Summer Software Engineering Intern position at Digital Ocean.

Currently, I have been a Web Developer Intern at a digital agency for almost year and a half where I work on WordPress applications using PHP, Javascript, HTML5, and CSS. My strongest and preferred programming language is Ruby which I use for the majority of my projects along with frameworks like, but not limited to, Sinatra and Ruby on Rails. My current project is a web scraper made with Ruby for an unofficial API of a popular website because the current one is extremely limited so I decided to make one myself. I'll then build it with go lang this winter as a learning experience. I have examples of my school work, which are written in C++, and side projects publicly available on my GitHub account. I look forward to contributing my skills, experiences, and ingenuity to the 2018 Summer Software Engineering Intern position at Digital Ocean. Thank you for your time and consideration.

Respectfully,

BERNIN A. UBEN
